

Subject: No Reason to Lift the Moratorium
Date: Sunday, 7 April 2019 1:17:39 PM

Dear Madam or Sir,

I see no reason to lift the moratorium.

A good reason to maintain it is that it gives Tasmania a niche market that alleviates somewhat the market pressures for the producers of commodities to be price takers (rather than makers).

The argument that 'GMO food is free because drugs are safe' is wrong; the same monitoring and compliance mechanism that exist for drugs don't exist for food.

I urge continuing the policy of keeping Tasmania GMO free.

Evan Hadkins

--

www.livingauthentically.org To be true to ourselves and real in relationships