GMO Moratorium Review
A submission.

This submission argues that the Moratorium on GMO should be continued. There are many arguments both for and against GMO being introduced to Tasmania. However, the overarching argument I would suggest is the one that states that Tasmania has a unique brand of clean, green and organic produce that need to be protected at all costs. Once a GMO is introduced then this brand is challenged and the door becomes open to other GMOs.

If Tasmania goes the way of other more populous states and countries then it really cannot compete financially and risks losing its edge. Tasmania needs to stay small and GMO free to be competitive in its markets, especially its European ones.

Therefore, the moratorium needs to be extended indefinitely

Thank You
